

What is Study Edge?

Study Edge is a tutoring company at the University of Florida that offers in-person reviews, as well as video content and study guides for “historically difficult” courses. We cover STEM and business courses including calculus, chemistry, physics, accounting, and more. Currently, Study Edge at UF costs $50 per month and is trusted by over 8,000 UF students.

Study Edge has launched an online platform that is available to high school and college students across the country. For $14.95 per month students outside of UF can have access to our online review content for several college and AP courses.

How Can I Get Involved?

Are you a problem solver with creative business solutions? Need to evaluate a current business model for a school project or assignment? Develop an innovative business model that can be made applicable to Study Edge not at UF (online only). If we love your idea, we might even offer a stipend of up to $100!

Who Should I Contact?

Please email marketing@studyledge.com with any questions, concerns, or project submissions.